A Catalyst for Change

Mai Moore is the founder of Boss Me In and co-founder of EYEJ (Empowering Youth Exploring Justice), two platforms dedicated to empowering women and youth to lead with courage, authenticity, and impact.

Through Boss Me In, Mai champions a diverse community of women, providing mentorship and opportunities to rise as fearless leaders.

At EYEJ, she empowers thousands of young people in critical conversations and social action work around injustice issues.

Mai's fearless leadership has inspired transformative growth, from guiding policy reforms to building networks that uplift marginalized voices. As a speaker, she motivates audiences to take bold actions, lead with integrity, and make a lasting impact.

Key Accomplishments

Founder of Boss Me In: Created a platform that empowers women to lead without limits, fostering mentorship and leadership growth across generations.

Youth Empowerment: Successfully guided EYEJ's Youth Council in advocating for social justice, including policies in partnership with the Cleveland Division of Police.

Innovative Programs: Developed initiatives such as the Invite A Gen Z Tour, involving over 100 Chiefs and 500 Gen Z across the US and London.

Mai is a force to be reckoned with.
A force for good and a force for change.
